Ticket Status

Status	Meaning	Example	System actitons	Ter m Ver sio n Upd

				ate Dat e
Open	Tickets that the agent needs to handle		• Show a reminder 2 hours before ticket violates first response SLA policy • Mark ticket as Overdue if it violates SLA policy
Pending	Agents set a ticket status as Pending if they are required to get back to customers to provide them with further updates	A customer requests to change the size/color of their order but the order has been TA already → We need to request the supplier to stop the shipment to make the change but are uncertain about the outcome → We tell the customer to wait for the outcome and set the ticket status as Pending, and then get back to them after 2 days	• Automatically re-open the ticket after 2 days • An agent cannot mark as Resolved without filling in Customer_Feedback and Rootcause
Waiting_on_customer	Agents set a ticket status as Waiting_on_customer if they are required to take action on orders even if customers do not reply to their message	A customer wants to cancel their order → We will provide some offers, hoping that they will stay with us but the customer does not reply to us → We will process the cancellation if we receive no response from the customer	• If customer does not reply after 1 day, system automatically sends him/her a reminder • If customer does not reply after 2 days, ticket is automatically set Open

Waiting_ no_follo w_up	Agents set a ticket status as Waiting_no_follow_up after they provided a customer with offers/information and needs customer to get back but not required to follow up on a case	Example 1: A customer complains about the product material → We may provide some offers (replace, refund, etc.) but will not follow up on the case if the customer does not reply to us Example 2: A customer complains about the delayed shipment → We provide some offers (replace, refund, etc.) but will not follow up on the case if the customer does not reply to us	If a customer does not reply after 1 day, the system automatically sends him/her a reminder and ticket status is automatically set to Closed	25/1 0/2 025
Closed	Agents set a ticket status as Closed if there is no solution/information need to be provided to a customer	Customers say “Thank you” to our messages	The system automatically set a ticket status as Closed if there is no further action necessary.
Resolved	Agents set a ticket status as Resolved after they provided a customer with solutions/information and not required to follow up on a case and NO needs customer to get back		The system automatically send a CSAT survey once a ticket is set as Resolved	25/1 0/2 025
Waiting_ on_SCE	Tickets that agent set to request SCE taking actions	Example: Ask SCE to postpone DO/PO	System will reopen ticket when

			• SCE mark done/cannot done or add note to ticket • SCE did not take any action within 72h
SCE_handling	Tickets that SCE is now handling internally	Example: SCE is checking defective proof	System will reopen ticket when • SCE mark done/cannot done or add note to ticket • SCE did not take any action within 48h
Waiting_on_CALL	Tickets that agent set to request Call agent taking actions		System will reopen ticket when • Call agent add note to ticket • Call agent did not take any action within 48h

i Customer_feedback (Primary feedback)/Feedback_issue and Additional_Feedback/Additional_Feedback_Issue

Purpose: Record customer's feedback on product/service

How to differentiate feedback fields?

- Customer_Feedback also known as primary_feedback, refers to the main concern raised by a customer.
- Feedback_Issue is to specify Customer_Feedback
- Additional_Feedback is to gather as much customer feedback as possible, in addition to the primary feedback.
- Additional_Feedback_Issue is to specify Additional_Feedback

How to define Customer_Feedback (primary_feedback) from a customer's initial interaction?

- If there is more than one type of feedback in a ticket, fill in the Customer_Feedback following the priority order: Product > Shipping/Fulfillment > Transaction

After defining the type of feedback, adhere to the following priority order to define

Customer_Feedback:

1st priority: Adhere to the customer's message (if that is a ticket created from the contact form, the customer's message is the Description). If the primary feedback cannot be defined in this step, go with the 2nd priority

2nd priority: Adhere to My trouble/My issues (choose the most specific feedback) filled by the customer in the contact form. If the primary feedback cannot be defined in this step, go with the 3rd priority

3rd priority: Adhere to the sequence of feedback provided by the customer. First mentioned, recorded.

- If multiple types of feedback are unrelated to each other, record the two primaries

Example: Customer says "The material is cheap, allergic, and the shipping time was too long"

→ Customer_Feedback: Product_Material/Function

→ Additional_Feedback: Shipping/Fulfillment

- If there are multiple feedback issues in the same type of Customer_Feedback, choose the specific one. If there are multiple specific ones, choose the one mentioned first

Example: Customer says "Cheap material, Odor, Too small, faded"

→ Customer_Feedback: Product_Material/Function; Feedback_Issue: Odor

→ Additional_Feedback: Product_Sizing; Additional_Feedback_Issue: Too small

Recording feedback for multiple tickets of 1 order, same issue

We prioritize capturing the most specific customer feedback.

If a previous ticket already contains comprehensive customer feedback, subsequent ticket handlers may leave the properties fields empty. However, if new customer feedback or new information (customer provides new measurements, ect...) appears during the handling of current tickets, agents are required to record the new feedback and update the rootcause as necessary to maintain accuracy and completeness of our records

Rootcause/Rootcause_type

Purpose: To record the underlying reason for a customer’s concern and for any loss (refund/replacement) arising

How to prioritize Rootcause?

In situations where multiple rootcauses can be chosen for a ticket, we should prioritize selecting the Rootcause that highlights the business's responsibility. This approach allows us to gain valuable insights into areas where we can make improvements. Here is an example:

Customer's measurements: waist 50", inseam 30"

Selected size: 3XL/Short

Our size chart: Size 3XL cover waist 42-45", inseam Short: 29"

Complaint: Waist too tight, length too long

→ Rootcause: Product/Technical_issue

Recording Rootcause for multiple tickets of 1 order, same issue

We prioritize capturing the most specific accurate rootcause.

If a previous ticket already contains a precise rootcause, subsequent ticket handlers may leave the properties fields empty. However, if new customer feedback or new information (customer provides new measurements, ect...) appears during the handling of current tickets, agents are required to record the new feedback and update the rootcause as necessary to maintain accuracy and completeness of our records.

Example 1

Ticket 1: Rootcause identified as Content/Unfriendly_size_chart

Ticket 2: Rootcause identified as Undefined/sizing

Agents can either leave property fields empty in ticket 2 OR Record properties identical to ticket 1, as it contains a more specific rootcause.

Example 2

Ticket 1: Rootcause identified as Content/Unfriendly_size_chart

Ticket 2: Rootcause identified as Customer/Pick_wrong_size_color

Agent should record Customer/Pick_wrong_size_color for ticket 2 as customer provides new measurements and both rootcauses are specificgggg

While the size is correct, the legs are two different lengths and it's very noticeable" - The pants come with uneven lengths • "Ordered 35W. Received pants with waist like 40" - The pants were supposed to have a 36-inch waist, but the customer received a pair measuring 39 inches. This measurement does not match the size specifications, and no size in the real measurement table corresponds to a 39-inch waist.
	Technical_issue (FOR PANTS, PANTIES & SHIRT ONLY)	• At least one of the customer's body measurements OR usual size related to their feedback aligns with the purchased size on the provided size chart, yet the ordered item does not fit.	• Example 1 (size chart with multiple ranges like Stretchactive) Complaint: Hip too tight Customer's waist measurement: 38 inches Customer's selected size: 2XL (waist range 36-40 inches) Rootcause: Product-Technical_issue • Example 2 (size chart with single measurements like

How to Identify This Case

CEE can identify this scenario when both of the following conditions occur at the same time:

- The products have stock available in multiple warehouses (Filter by warehouse in the Inventory Balance tab).
- The DO contains in-stock SKUs but remains unfulfilled.

Remap_late _production

- Orders cannot be fulfilled due to production

Example: Order #20256-1227, FlexRover, size 36/30 was originally mapped to 2XL

	delays, and SCE reallocates these orders to the nearest available size. Reference thread: LINK	but fulfilled with XL due to a production delay of 2XL.
Received_multiple_size	- Received_multiple_size is selected when an order is fulfilled using multiple active size chart/mapping versions due to insufficient inventory in the primary size chart after 10 days from the processing date. - As a result, items with the same sale size within this order may be mapped to different fulfillment sizes (e.g., Size Chart Version 1 → size S, Version 2 → size M),	Example: Customer buys 1 order with 2 items size 40A → mapped to fulfillment sizes Medium and Large	Root Cause Classification between 1. Fulfillment – Remap_late_production - Use when: There is an remap size chart from SCE (check on Selless or Confluence) - Example: Customer buys 1 order with 2 items size 40A → both remapped to fulfillment size Medium. Before that, size 40A is mapped with Large 2. Fulfillment – Received_multiple_size	23/04/2026

However, the size chart in the Real measurement file for that same duration showed size XL with a 34-36 inch underbust.
Misleading_ads	Photo/Video/Working on the selling page demonstrates a product (features, functions, etc.) inaccurately	• Shapedenim: The ads show that the jeans feature a strong tummy control panel but it does not and the customer sent a complaint about it • Program Buy 1 get 3 free (the customer can buy 3 items for a full price of 1 item with the discount, this does not mean customer buy 1 and will get 2 extra free items in the package)
No/Wrong_instruction	No guidance/Poor guidance is included in the package/ on our website on how	• "I received my order, thank you. But it seems a product is missing. The instructions say to start with the base coat but there isn't any. Can I order it?"-LoveyNail (The base

		to use the product	coat is not included in the set. However, the manual shows that the base coat is required to be used which gives the customer the impression that it should be included in the package) • “I have no idea how to connect the light system and thought it was already set.”-HandyMerry
	New_tariff_charge	The customer claims they were charged an additional fee by the last-mile courier due to the new tariff in order to receive the package.
	Aftersale_promo	Issues related to the after-sale promotion
	Other	Content issues that are not in the above list
Customer	Provide_wrong_addresses	The customer provided the wrong address (shipping address, email address, etc.)	• A customer asked to change the shipping address after checkout because she entered the wrong one • The order was returned to sender or not successfully delivered, because the customer entered the wrong address at checkout - Package Status: DELIVERED “You delivered the package to the wrong address. You show an incorrect address and phone number for me. I tried to run down the package to no avail.” (The customer provided incorrect address). “You sent my order to an old address. The correct address is...” “I have moved and need the packages rerouted to a different location. Can you please reroute them to my current address”

Pick_wrong_size/color	- Customers pick a size that is: - not related to their usual size or - none of the attributes in the size chart matches their measurements	- Jettjeans: My issues: The waist is too small. The customer ordered W34/L28 and provided his waist measurement 36 inches - Daisy bra: Customer complained that the band and cups are too small. She ordered 34/D (Band size 34 and Cup size D) while her usual bra size is 36/DD (E). - Glamorette: Overall too small. The customer	Timelessmark: Customer complaint to receive Red/Original but she ordered Red/Heart. Her order includes one Red/Original item and Red/Original is the default variant- >System_error

- For Cancel_Order request, select this field if the Reason for cancellation in the contact form is the Wrong purchase

- For the Change_Product_Variant request, select this field if the customer unintentionally chose the incorrect size/color

- For bras, when customers choose separate band and cup sizes:
 - If the customer provides their usual bra size (e.g., 36D), use that size ordered sales size XL which fits 36D 38C 40AB and 34-36 inches underbust but her usual bra size is 40D and she did not provide other measurements.

- Jettjeans: My issues: The waist is too small. The customer ordered W34/L28 and provided his waist measurement 32 inches. → The customer has a 32-inch waist and selected a larger size, but it still does not fit.
